

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

STATE CAPITOL, SALEM, OREGON.

STATE CAPITOL BUILDING.

In the following pages is given a description of the State Capitol building. The measurements are furnished by Hon. Justus F. Krumbeln, of Portland, Oregon, who is, the original architect of the building.

The Capitol of Oregon, commonly called the "State House," is located upon a slightly elevated plat of ground near the center of the city of Salem. The general plan of the building is that of a cross, the length being from north to south, and width from east to west. The main fronts are on the east and west wings, which are 60 feet in width, and the wings extending north and south are 100 feet in length and 80 feet in width. The east and west main fronts project 40 feet from the main walls and there are porticos 16 feet wide across each, with steps full width. The porticos are supported on large Corinthian columns with heavy pedestals. These columns extend in one length the height of two stories.

The height of the main building from the ground to the cornice is 75 feet. Towering above the main building is the ornamental dome, constructed of iron covered with copper. It rises directly from the center of the building, being supported by heavy iron pillars at the bottom and extending 187 feet from the ground. The general plan of the building is divided into three stories. The first story, or ground floor, called the basement floor, is 16 feet in height in the clear between floors. The second or main floor is  $21\frac{1}{2}$  feet in height in the clear between floors; while the third story, or second floor above the basement or ground floor, is 20 feet in the clear between floors.

INTERIOR OF SECOND OR MAIN FLOOR.

The general description of the interior would properly begin at the rotunda directly under the ornamental dome in the center of the building. This grand rotunda is 54 feet square, and extends from the basement to the upper floor, above which there is a circular ornamental dome with glass dome light in the center of the ceiling. The rotunda on the second and third floors is circular in form, surrounding the opening, extending from the ornamental dome light to the basement. From this rotunda on the different floors there are grand staircases, giving access up or down, and also a passenger elevator to the northeast of the rotunda. On the first or basement floor there are entrances on all four of the fronts or wings, with hallways twelve feet in width leading into the main rotunda under the circular dome. Access to the second story is by the two main entrances on the east and the west fronts. The cement steps leading up from the grounds in front on the east and west sides, from the first story directly to the main entrances of the second floor, are 50 feet in width. On the second or main floor, leading from the grand rotunda, are the entrances to the Senate Chamber in the north wing and the Hall of the House of Representatives in the south wing. The Senate Chamber is 75 feet in length, 45 feet in width, and  $21\frac{1}{2}$  feet in height, with adjoining legislative committee rooms of various sizes extending across the north end of the chamber directly back of the president's chair and the main rostrum. These legislative committee rooms are of different dimensions, averaging about 20 by 22 feet. Directly opposite the Senate Chamber, on the south side of the grand rotunda on the second floor, is the Hall of the House of Representatives, 84 feet in length and 75 feet in width, there being a lobby hall or corridor 16 by 30 feet between the rotunda and the main hall.

In the west main front of the second floor, on the north side of the main hallway, are the executive offices and Governor's departments and reception room. The Governor's main office is 20 feet in width by 47 feet in length, and is divided nearly in the center by a partition, making two rooms, one 20 by 20 feet and the other 20 by 27 feet. The first of these rooms is occupied by the secretary to the Governor, and the second by the Governor's stenographer. Adjoining the room of the Governor's secretary, extending north to the wall of the Senate Chamber, is the Governor's private office,  $29\frac{1}{2}$  feet in width by  $30\frac{1}{2}$  feet in length. Entrance to this room is by a door from the main hall leading north to the Senate Chamber, or by a doorway from the office of the Governor's secretary.

On the south side of the main hall, in the west front of the second story, opposite the Governor's departments, are the offices of the Secretary of State, called the department of state. The main room is only 47 feet in length by 20 feet in width, and is partitioned for general business convenience. Adjoining the east or larger room of these is a vault 14 feet in length and 8 feet in width; in front of the vault there is a small document room with a narrow stairway leading to document rooms beneath on the basement or first floor of identically the same size as those occupied by the department of state.

On the east side of the main hallway, leading to the Senate Chamber on the second floor and directly between the Senate Chamber, the rotunda and the east main wing of the building, being directly opposite the Governor's private office on the east, is the State Treasurer's office. It is identically the same size as the Governor's private office, being 29½ feet by 30½ feet in length, and having a stone vault on the southeast 11 feet in length by 11 feet in width.

In the east of the main front of the second floor there are two rooms, one on either side of the main hallway, each being 19 feet in width by 20 feet in length; the room on the north being used by the Secretary of State as an office annex, and the room on the south by the secretary of the Board of Regents of Normal Schools.

On the right of the main hall or corridor, leading to the east entrance of the main or second floor, are the toilets, 12 feet in width by 27 feet in length.

THIRD OR UPPER FLOOR.

On the third or upper main floor of the building in the south wing, directly over the Hall of Representatives, is located the Supreme Court law library, technically known as the "State Library." The main library room is reached from the main rotunda in the center of the building. It is 100 feet in length and 75 feet in width and 20 feet in height, with small toilets and wash rooms on the extreme southeast and southwest corners of the room. In the west main front of the third floor, directly over the office of the department of state and the executive department, is located the main chamber of the Oregon Supreme Court, there being large swinging doors leading from the rotunda on the third floor to this room. This room is 54 feet in length and 49 feet in width, with the judges' bench located on the north end of the room, extending entirely across from east to west. Between the Supreme Court room and the north wall of the north wing, are the chambers of the three justices and two commissioners of the Supreme Court. Opposite the judges' chambers in the north wing, and east of the hall, are the rooms occupied by the Clerk of the Supreme Court, the Oregon Library Commission, and the State Bank Examiner. The chambers of the justices and the Library Commission's rooms, recently completed, are the finest finished and frescoed rooms in the building. To the east of the main rotunda and in the main eastern front, are the offices of the Attorney-General.

FIRST OR GROUND FLOOR.

The first or ground floor of the Capitol building, commonly called the basement floor or story, is divided by hallways extending through each of the four main wings from the north, south, east, and west of the rotunda in the center. These hallways are 12 feet in width. On the west side of the hallway leading from the north entrance to the basement of the rotunda are the offices, composing rooms, press room, and material room of the State Printer. On the east side of the entrance to the north wing of the basement story are, first, the office of the State Engineer, a room 22 feet in width by 30 feet in length; second, a room in which is located the heating apparatus of the State House, being 30 feet in width by 36 feet in length; and third, the office of the Clerk of the Board of Commissioners for the sale and management of school lands and the irreducible school fund, as well as of the State Land Agent. This room is directly under the State treasury department and is 30 feet in width by 30 feet in length and has a vault 11 feet in width by 11 feet in length immediately under the vault of the State treasury.

In the south main wing of the building, on the first or basement floor, being directly under the Hall of the House of Representatives, are six large rooms originally intended for legislative committee rooms, and for other general purposes. The first room on the east side of the main hallway, next to the south entrance, is occupied by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the second and third, near the rotunda, by the Railroad Commission. On the west side of the hallway in the south wing of the basement story the first large room is occupied by the Adjutant-General and the Labor Commissioner, while the second and third rooms on the same side of the main hallway, extending entirely to the rotunda, are occupied or used for legislative committee rooms, and by the State Printing Expert and the Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

In the west main front on the basement story on the south side of the hallway, extending east and west, are the store rooms of the department of state. These rooms are of the same dimensions as the offices of the department of state, one being 20 by 20 feet and the other 20 by 27 feet, there also being a vault 8 by 11 feet adjoining, directly under the one of the department of state. In the east front of the ground or basement floor are two rooms, one on either side of the hallway, leading from east to west, the room on the left being 19 by 19 feet and occupied by the Capitol janitor; the room directly opposite being 19 by 20 feet and occupied by the Capitol carpenter.

DOME OF THE CAPITOL.

The elevator, located on the northeast of the main rotunda, runs from the basement under the first or ground floor to the attic immediately above the third or upper main floor of the building. From the attic there is a circular iron stairway around the ornamental dome, between the outside copper covering and the inner glass dome light, two stories to the rotunda of the ornamental dome above the main Capitol building. This main story of the dome is inclosed with large glass windows, and there is a circular promenade 10 feet in width around the interior surrounding and about 10 feet above the dome light, being directly above the rotunda on the basement, second and third floors. From this promenade or dome rotunda there is a circular iron stairway leading on up in a spiral form to the very top of the main dome of the building.

The Capitol building is heated by steam and lighted by gas and electricity. There are forty-six large windows in each story, the upper part of those in the Senate Chamber and Hall of the House of Representatives being of ornamental stained glass. The Capitol was commenced in the year 1873, and is entirely constructed of brick, which was manufactured principally at the State Penitentiary by convict labor, so that the absolute cost of the building can never be definitely ascertained, but the approximate cost is $500,000. Fire escapes and water towers have recently been installed in the north and south ends of the building, as well as a stationary chemical engine in the basement with connections to the several floors and dome.

(The foregoing is taken principally from the biennial report of Harrison R. Kincaid, Secretary of State, 1897-1898.)

ARTICLE IV.

Legislative Department.

§ 1. Legislative Authority—Style of Bill—Initiative and Referendum.

The legislative authority of the State shall be vested in a Legislative Assembly, consisting of a Senate and House of Representatives, but the people reserve to themselves power to propose laws and amendments to the Constitution and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the Legislative Assembly, and also reserve power at their own option to approve or reject at the polls any act of the Legislative Assembly. The first power reserved by the people is the initiative, and not more than eight per cent of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition, and every such petition shall include the full text of the measure so proposed. Initiative petitions shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon. The second power is the referendum, and it may be ordered (except as to laws necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety), either by the petition signed by five per cent of the legal voters, or by the Legislative Assembly, as other bills are enacted. Referendum petitions shall be filed with the Secretary of State not more than ninety days after the final adjournment of the session of the Legislative Assembly which passed the bill on which the referendum is demanded. The veto power of the Governor shall not extend to measures referred to the people. All elections on measures referred to the people of the State shall be had at the biennial regular general elections, except when the Legislative Assembly shall order a special election. Any measure referred to the people shall take effect and become the law when it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not otherwise. The style of all bills shall be: "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Oregon." This section shall not be construed to deprive any member of the Legislative Assembly of the right to introduce any measure. The whole number of votes cast for Justice of the Supreme Court at the regular election last preceding the filing of any petition for the initiative or for the referendum shall be the basis on which the number of legal voters necessary to sign such petition shall be counted. Petitions and orders for the initiative and for the referendum shall be filed with the Secretary of State, and in submitting the same to the people he, and all other officers, shall be guided by the general laws and the act submitting this amendment, until legislation shall be especially provided therefor.

Note.—The above section is an amendment to the original Constitution, and was adopted by the Twentieth Legislative Assembly; adopted by the Twenty-first Legislative Assembly; adopted by the people, by vote of 62,024 for, to 5,668 against it, June 2, 1902.

§ 1a. Initiative and Referendum on Local, Special and Municipal Laws and Parts of Laws.

The referendum may be demanded by the people against one or more items, sections, or parts of any act of the Legislative Assembly in the same manner in which such power may be exercised against a complete act. The filing of a referendum petition against one or more items, sections, or parts of an act shall not delay the remainder of that act from becoming operative. The initiative and referendum powers reserved to the people by this Constitution are hereby further reserved to the legal voters of every municipality and district, as to all local, special and municipal legislation, of every character, in or for their respective municipalities and districts. The manner of exercising said powers shall be prescribed by general laws, except that cities and towns may provide for the manner of exercising the initiative and referendum powers as to their municipal legislation. Not more than ten per cent of the legal voters may be required to order the referendum nor more than fifteen per cent to propose any measure, by the initiative, in any city or town.

*Emergency
Law 1907

Note 1.—The above section was proposed by initiative petition filed in the office of the Secretary of State February 8, 1906, and adopted by vote of the people, 47,678 for, and 16,785 against, June 4, 1906. It went into effect by proclamation of the Governor issued June 25, 1906.

Note 2.—Section 1 as originally adopted was as follows: "The legislative authority of the State shall be vested in the Legislative Assembly which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives. The style of every bill shall be 'Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon,' and no law shall be enacted except by bill."

§ 2. Number of Senators and Representatives.

The Senate shall consist of sixteen, and the House of Representatives of thirty-four members, which number shall not be increased until the year eighteen hundred and sixty, after which time the Legislative Assembly may increase the number of Senators and Representatives; always keeping, as near as may be, the same ratio as to the number of Senators and Representatives; Provided, that the Senate shall never exceed thirty, and the House of Representatives sixty members.

§ 3. By Whom Chosen.

§ 8. State Not to Assume County Debt, Except in What Case.

The State shall never assume the debts of any county, town or other corporation whatever, unless such debts shall have been created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or defend the State in war.

§ 9. Prohibition Upon Municipal Corporations.

All officers except members of the Legislative Assembly shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

§ 2. Tenure of Office.

When the duration of any office is not provided for by this Constitution, it may be declared by law; and if not so declared, such office shall be held during the pleasure of the authority making the appointment. But the Legislative Assembly shall not create any office the tenure of which shall be longer than four years.

§ 3. Oath of Officers.

Every person elected or appointed to any office under this Constitution shall, before entering on the duties thereof, take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and also an oath of office.

§ 4. Lotteries Prohibited.

ARTICLE XVI.

Boundaries.

§ 1. Boundaries of State.

In order that the boundaries of the State may be known and established, it is hereby ordained and declared that the State of Oregon shall be bounded as follows, to-wit:

Beginning one marine league at sea, due west from the point where the forty-second parallel of north latitude intersects the same: thence northerly at the same distance from the line of the coast lying west and opposite the State, including all islands within the jurisdiction of the United States, to a point due west and opposite the middle of the north ship channel of the Columbia river; thence easterly to and up the middle channel of said river, and when it is divided by islands, up the middle of the widest channel thereof, and in like manner up the middle of the main channel of Snake river to the mouth of the Owyhee river; thence due south to the parallel of latitude forty-two degrees north; thence west along said parallel to the place of beginning, including jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases upon the Columbia river and Snake river, concurrently with States and Territories of which those rivers form a boundary in common with this State. But the Congress of the United States, in providing for the admission of this State into the Union, may make the said northern boundary conform to the act creating the Territory of Washington.

ARTICLE XVII.

Amendments.

§ 1. Amendments to Constitution, How Made.

Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either branch of the Legislative Assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall, with the yeas and nays thereon, be entered in their journals and referred by the Secretary of State to the people for their approval or rejection, at the next regular general election, except when the Legislative Assembly shall order a special election for that purpose. If a majority of the electors voting on any such amendment shall vote in favor thereof, it shall thereby become a part of this Constitution. The votes for and against such amendment or amendments, severally, whether proposed by the Legislative Assembly or by initiative petition, shall be canvassed by the Secretary of State in the presence of the Governor, and if it shall appear to the Governor that the majority of the votes cast at said election on said amendment or amendments, severally, are cast in favor thereof, it shall be his duty forthwith after such canvass, by his proclamation, to declare the said amendment or amendments, severally, having received said majority of votes, to have been adopted by the people of Oregon as part of the Constitution thereof, and the same shall be in effect as a part of the Constitution from the date of such proclamation. When two or more amendments shall be submitted in the manner aforesaid to the voters of this State, at the same election, they shall be so submitted that each amendment shall be voted on separately. No convention shall be called to amend or propose amendments to this Constitution, or to propose a new Constitution, unless the law providing for such convention shall first be approved by the people on a referendum vote at a regular general election. This article shall not be construed to impair the right of the people to amend this Constitution by vote upon an initiative petition therefor.

Note 1.—The above section, which takes the place of the original sections 1 and 2, was proposed by initiative petition, filed in the office of the Secretary of State, February 3, 1906, and adopted by vote of the people, 47,661 for, and 18,751 against, June 4, 1906. It went into effect, upon proclamation of the Governor, June 25, 1906.

Note 2.—The original sections 1 and 2, before amendment in 1906, read as follows:

"Sec. 1. Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either branch of the Legislative Assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall, with the yeas and nays thereon, be entered on their journals, and referred to the Legislative Assembly to be chosen at the next general election; and if, in the Legislative Assembly so next chosen, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each House, then it shall be the duty of the Legislative Assembly to submit such amendment or amendments to the electors of the State, and cause the same to be published without delay at least four consecutive weeks in several newspapers published in this State; and if a majority of said electors shall ratify the same, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of this Constitution.

"Sec. 2. If two or more amendments shall be submitted in such manner, that the electors shall vote for or against each of such amendments separately; and while an amendment or amendments which shall have been agreed upon by one Legislative Assembly shall be awaiting the action of a Legislative Assembly, or of the electors, no additional amendment or amendments shall be proposed."

ARTICLE XVIII.

Schedule.

§ 1. Election for Acceptance or Rejection of the Constitution.

For the purpose of taking the vote of the electors of the State for the acceptance or rejection of this Constitution, an election shall be held on the second Monday of November, in the year 1857, to be conducted according to existing laws regulating the election of Delegate in Congress, so far as applicable, except as herein otherwise provided.

§ 2. Questions—Returns of Election.

Each elector who offers to vote upon this Constitution shall be asked by the judges of election this question:

Do you vote for the Constitution—yes or no?

And also this question:

Do you vote for slavery in Oregon—yes or no?

And also this question:

Do you vote for free negroes in Oregon—yes or no?

And in the poll books shall be columns headed respectively, "Constitution, yes"; "Constitution, no"; "free negroes, yes"; "free negroes, no"; "slavery, yes"; "slavery, no."

And the names of the electors shall be entered in the poll books, together with their answers to the said questions, under their appropriate heads. The abstracts of the votes transmitted to the Secretary of the Territory shall be publicly opened and canvassed by the Governor and Secretary, or by either of them in the absence of the other; and the Governor, or, in his absence, the Secretary, shall forthwith issue his proclamation, and publish the same in the several newspapers printed in this State, declaring the result of the said election upon each of said questions.

§ 3. When Constitution to be Deemed Accepted or Rejected.

If a majority of all the votes given for and against the Constitution shall be given for the Constitution, then this Constitution shall be deemed to be approved and accepted by the electors of the State, and shall take effect accordingly; and if a majority of such votes shall be given against the Constitution, then this Constitution shall be deemed to be rejected by the electors of the State, and shall be void.

§ 4. Vote on Certain Sections of Constitution.

If this Constitution shall be accepted by the electors, and a majority of all the votes given for and against slavery shall be given for slavery, then the following section shall be added to the bill of rights and shall be part of this Constitution:

"Section —. Persons lawfully held as slaves in any State, Territory or district of the United States, under the laws thereof, may be brought into this State; and such slaves and their descendants may be held as slaves within this State, and shall not be emancipated without the consent of their owners."

And if a majority of such votes shall be given against slavery, then the foregoing section shall not, but the following section shall be added to the bill of rights, and shall be part of this Constitution:

"Section —. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the State, otherwise than as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."

And if a majority of all the votes given for and against free negroes shall be given against free negroes, then the following section shall be added to the bill of rights, and shall be a part of this Constitution:

"Section —. No free negro or mulatto, not residing in this State at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall come, reside, or be within this State, or hold any real estate, or make any contracts, or maintain any suit therein; and the Legislative Assembly shall provide by penal laws for the removal by public officers of all such negroes and mulattoes, and for their effectual exclusion from the State, and for the punishment of persons who shall bring them into the State, or employ or harbor them."

§ 5. Apportionment of Senators and Representatives.

Until an enumeration of the white inhabitants of the State shall be made, and the Senators and Representatives apportioned as directed in the Constitution, the county of Marion shall have two Senators and four Representatives; Linn, two Senators and four Representatives; Lane, two Senators and three Representatives; Clackamas and Wasco, one Senator jointly, and Clackamas three Representatives, and Wasco one Representative; Yamhill, one Senator and two Representatives; Polk, one Senator and two Representatives; Benton, one Senator and two Representatives; Multnomah, one Senator and two Representatives; Washington, Columbia, Clatsop and Tillamook, one Senator jointly, and Washington one Representative, and Washington and Columbia one Representative jointly, and Clatsop and Tillamook one Representative jointly; Douglas, one Senator and two Representatives; Jackson, one Senator and three Representatives; Josephine, one Senator and one Representative; Umpqua, Coos and Curry, one Senator jointly, and Umpqua one Representative, and Coos and Curry one Representative jointly.

§ 6. Election under Constitution and Organization of State.

If this Constitution shall be ratified, an election shall be held on the first Monday in June, 1858, for the election of members of the Legislative Assembly, a Representative in Congress, and State and county officers; and the Legislative Assembly shall convene at the Capital on the first Monday of July, 1858, and proceed to elect two Senators in Congress, and make such further provision as may be necessary to the complete organization of a State government.

§ 7. Former Laws in Force.

All laws in force in the Territory of Oregon when this Constitution takes effect, and consistent therewith, shall continue in force until altered or repealed.

§ 8. Officers to Continue in Office.

All officers of the Territory of Oregon, or under its laws when this Constitution takes effect, shall continue in office until superseded by the State authorities.

§ 9. Crimes Against Territory.

Crimes and misdemeanors committed against the Territory of Oregon shall be punished by the State as they might have been punished by the Territory if the change of government had not been made.

§ 10. Saving of Existing Rights and Liabilities.

All property and rights of the Territory and of the several counties, subdivisions and political bodies corporate of or in the Territory, including fines, penalties, forfeitures, debts and claims of whatsoever nature, and recognizances, obligations, and undertakings to or for the use of the Territory or any county, political corporation, office or otherwise, to or for the public, shall enure to the State, or remain to the county, local division, corporation, officer or public, as if the change of government had not been made; and private rights shall not be affected by such change.

§ 11. Judicial Districts.

Until otherwise provided by law, the judicial districts of the State shall be constituted as follows: The counties of Jackson, Josephine and Douglas shall constitute the First District; the counties of Umpqua, Coos and Curry, Lane and Benton shall constitute the Second District; the counties of Linn, Marion, Polk, Yamhill and Washington shall constitute the Third District; the counties of Clackamas, Multnomah, Wasco, Columbia, Clatsop and Tillamook shall constitute the Fourth District; and the county of Tillamook shall be attached to the county of Clatsop for judicial purposes.

Done in convention at Salem, the eighteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, and of the independence of the United States, the eighty-second.
